TRYBENET OFFICE

INTRODUCTION

TrybeNet is a modern-day IT group with a team of young and talented programmers, capable of developing real time web, mobile and desktop applications. Throughout the years, TrybeNet has evolved from building static and less dynamic programs to a robust state of affairs where we tailor client's specification to the expected output.

The team had worked detachedly on projects until June 2014 when we became a full-fledged IT solutions group. Since then, we have successfully conducted ICT seminars on various campuses of tertiary institutions where we've taught participants to create and host their own websites, build simple desktop apps and the application of graphic design tools in the creation of the above IT products. TrybeNet currently provides web hosting services with very reliable servers to handle any quantum of data transmission/traffic. Our flagship product, the web based E-Recruitment portal for various National Security agencies have stood the test of time despite the large volumes of data transmitted from applicants to our servers and vice versa.

Our minimalist approach to any project ensures we submit a near spotless work with an interactive, user-friendly interface to twinset the requirement of our clients. We respect deadlines and would employ every means possible to complete any project per the expected timelines. Enjoy our stress-free mode of acquiring resources to run the finished product/programs; we got it covered with the Trybe Shop (our subsidiary company in charge of hardware product supplies) with very flexible procurement and payback terms. This is possible due to our direct B2B relations with top suppliers in the USA including Apple Inc, HP, Lenovo, Samsung, Dell, Toshiba and Acer. Our in-house servers run 24/7 to ensure clients have a data backup centre for all cloud related operations with a rate of 99% data protection and recovery at any set time.

MISSION & VISION

- We provide all forms of IT solutions with minimum fuss.

SERVICES

TrybeNet provides a range of services as demanded by our clients. We aid our clients to make well informed decisions due to our vast experience and technical know-how. Our services include:

- E-Recruitment Solutions.
- Mobile Applications Development.
- Consultancy and Seminars.
- Web and Software Development.
- Media & Graphics.
- Product Supplies (Trybe Shop).
- Web Hosting.

E-RECRUITMENT

We build PHP/JAVA based online portals for recruitment into various security services and other selected organizations. These portals are mounted on very reliable servers to accept entries from prospective applicants nation-wide. The program automatically sifts entries submitted and categorizes them into qualified and non-qualified applicants.

Qualification and the latter rules are determined by the institutions which have employed our services. We have very reliable sms/e-mail messaging platforms, fused with our portals to keep applicants informed at every stage of the application process. Our sms feedback report ensures that all applicants receive responses in time and those who fail to do so are contacted via voice calls, which is usually rare.

TrybeNet has streamlined processes related to major recruitment exercises for several institutions for the past three (3) years with our Web based solution. Access to the system is granted when applicants purchase an e-voucher from designated locations across the nation, logs on to the portal via a web address and follows the steps as detailed in both print and digital media. Concise reports are generated and submitted to the concerned bodies in due course, once the portal is closed.

We must say that the servers, hardware and software resources required to run these projects are quite gross; as such we may provide all the resources required if the client/institution so wishes. This is solely handled by the Trybe Shop, a subsidiary company of ours' at very equitable and flexible payback terms. We offer value for money and ensure optimum data integrity at all times.

MOBILE APP DEVELOPMENT

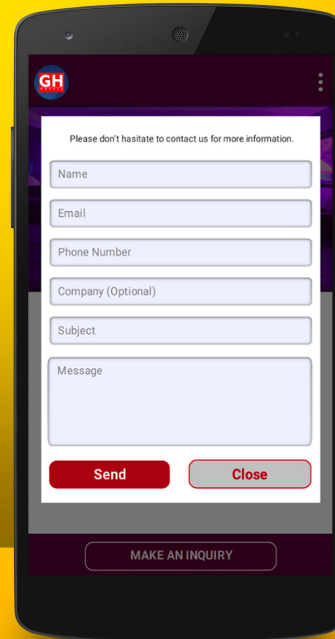

Recent trends in programming, coupled with web responsivity have made it necessary to pay more attention to apps which run on various handheld devices without any limitations. SEMINARS

For the past 3 years TrybeNet has conducted seminars on various campuses of tertiary institutions with the aim of providing students with the practical facets of the lessons taught in class. The very first session was held on the University for Development Studies campus in collaboration with the Computer Science Department, where endorsed certificates of participation were issued to partaking students at the end of a 2-week schedule. Subsequent sessions have been held in other institutions under the then corporate name “KayvieByte Innovations” until we became TrybeNet. Under listed are the key precepts of our seminars.

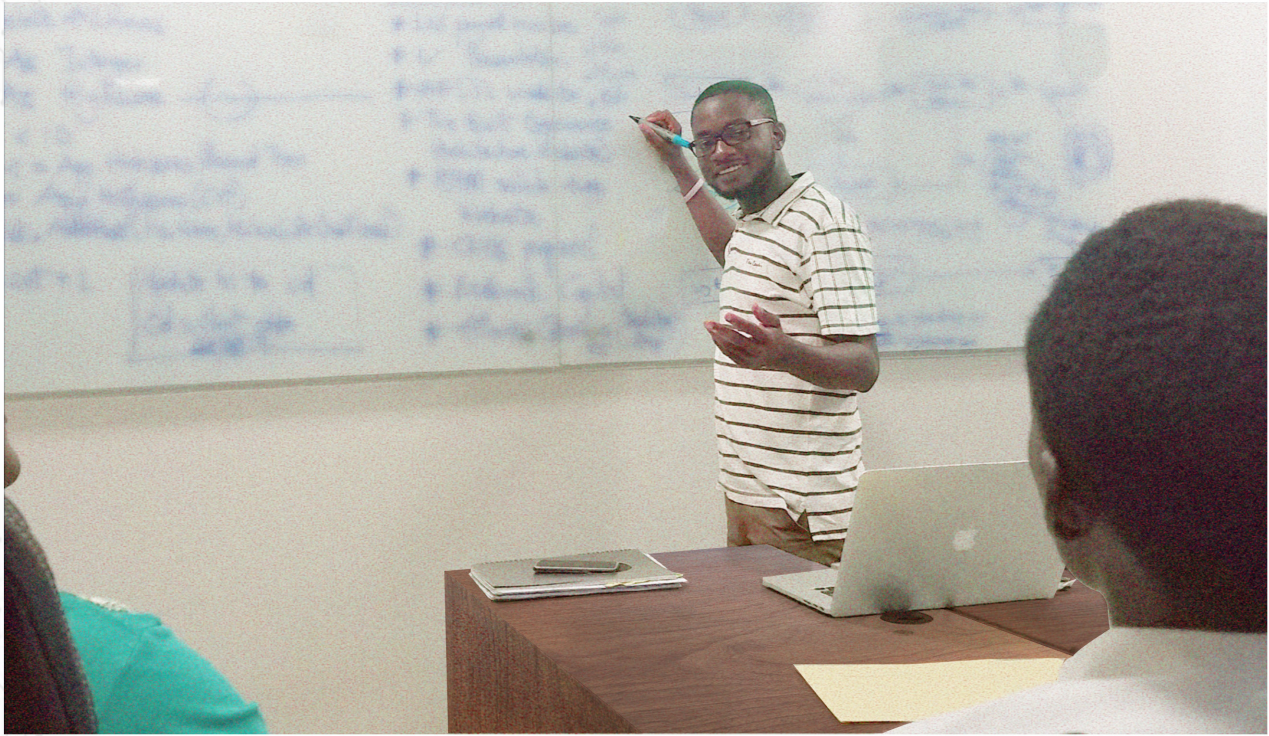

- Mobile Application Development (Android & Java)
- Web Development (Content Management System)
- Coding in PHP/JAVA
- Desktop Application Development (VB & XOJO)
- Web/Desktop Graphics
- Live Server Tweaks
- Web Hosting

All these programs are treated in-depth even though there's usually a limited time to do so. It is worth averring that due to our belief in women empowerment and the desire to get more feminine hands in the IT circles, all females who have participated in our seminars, did so at no cost/fee. The relatively short period for these seminars could be extended at the desire of the participants, channeled through their departmental heads to TrybeNet. To us, teaching and learning has no bounds and we are always willing to give our best.

WEB AND SOFTWARE DEVELOPMENT

Any website or content which can be accessed by a URL globally can be termed as a web based program whether it operates on an active directory or just an everyday website. Define your requirements as a corporate body or an individual and allow us to create that web related product you've always wished for. We frown on shared hosting services, which enables sharing of resources online and most importantly IP addresses. Such services increase the vulnerability of websites to hacking due to the common IP addresses shared by a group of clients at any given time. Cyber infiltration methods such as phishing and SQL Injection attacks are always possible and these are basic modes by which we prevent these activities.

A client may want an application to run both locally and online; this is highly possible and would be done in good time by our team of dynamic programmers. The local software would be handled as a normal desktop app with a cloud database which can be accessed concurrently with the web based program. Aside software's of this kind, we have over the years built HR Management Systems, Payroll Systems, Point of Sale Systems and a host of others.
